Recycled glass tiles are created by melting in glass waste bins heated to temperatures above 900 degrees Celsius. After this is done, the molten glass is stamped to the correct shape, hand-trimmed, and ground to its finished form. This type of quality gives each tile both a knowledgeable finish and a handmade appeal.

These recycled glass mosaic tiles are proof that environmentally conscious products can also be stunningly beautiful! Our selection of over 100 styles in a wide range of colors and in different shapes are 100% recycled.

Recycled mosaics have the additional advantage of being immune to chemicals and stains, making them suitable for areas susceptible to getting wet. They will be installed on doors, walls, countertops, tabletops, among other locations, and they are often used outdoors and indoors.
