About us!

TIKI as a design and architecture studio was founded in 2000 in Pristina by the architect Mr. Adriatik Bytyqi. In its early stage, the Studio was concentrated mainly on the design of the interior in Kosovo and other countries of Europe. After many successful projects in Kosovo, the Western Balkans countries, and Western Europe, at the end of 2014 the company expanded by opening the wood processing plant to complement the interior with the production of unique products designed by the TIKI studio itself. The particular focus is always dedicated to detail, quality, style, innovation, and use of materials.

The particular importance and application of sustainable materials in studio projects led this idea to develop further in the expansion of the interior by opening the mosaic factory (located side-by-side with the wood processing factory in Mitrovica) from the 100% recycled glass in 2016 with two production lines: i) Recycled mosaic and ii) Crystal Mosaic.

Tiki's goal is to touch human feelings, to stimulate emotions as well as to relax and calm the dynamic and stressful days of life, all through Architecture.

RECYCLED MOSAIC

Recycled glass tiles are created by melting in glass waste bins heated to temperatures above 900 degrees Celsius. After this is done, the molten glass is stamped to the correct shape, hand-trimmed, and ground to its finished form. This type of quality gives each tile both a knowledgeable finish and a handmade appeal.

These recycled glass mosaic tiles are proof that environmentally conscious products can also be stunningly beautiful! Our selection of over 100 styles in a wide range of colors and in different shapes are 100% recycled.

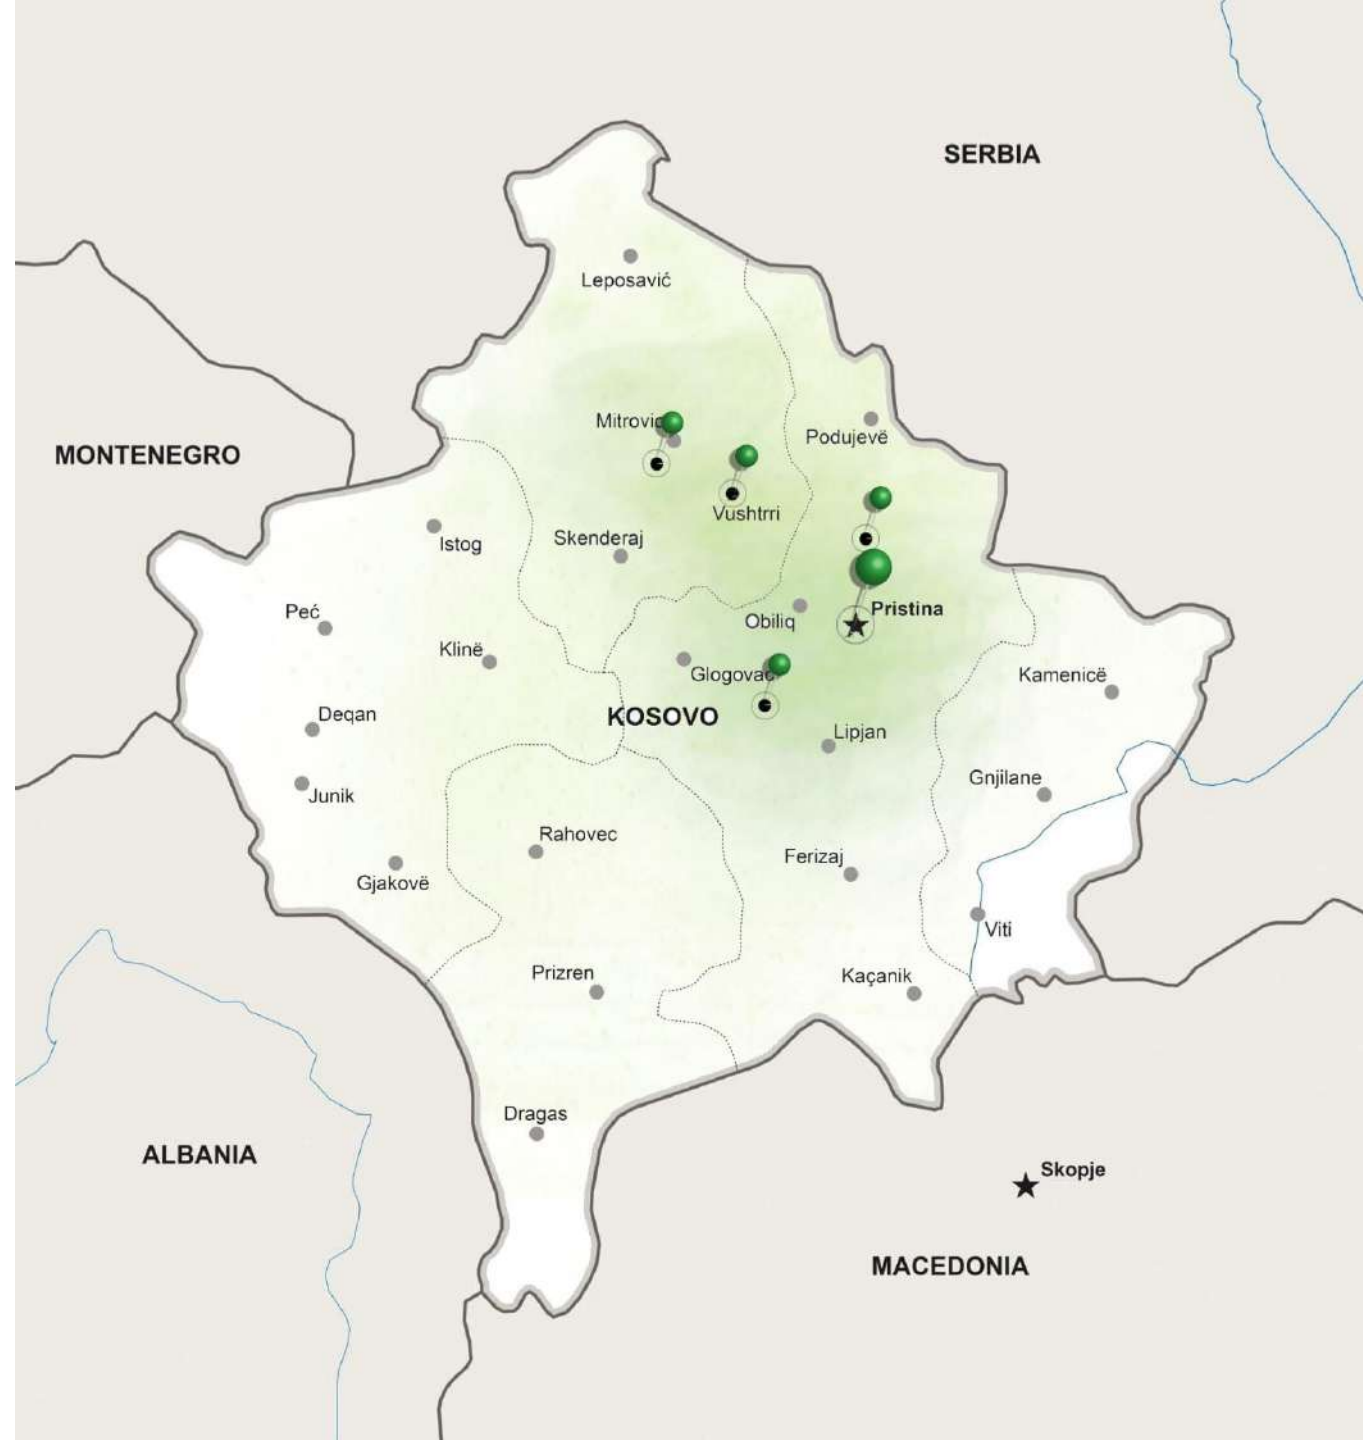

Recycled mosaics have the additional advantage of being immune to chemicals and stains, making them suitable for areas susceptible to getting wet. They will be installed on floors, walls, countertops, tabletops, among other locations, and they are often used outdoors and indoors.

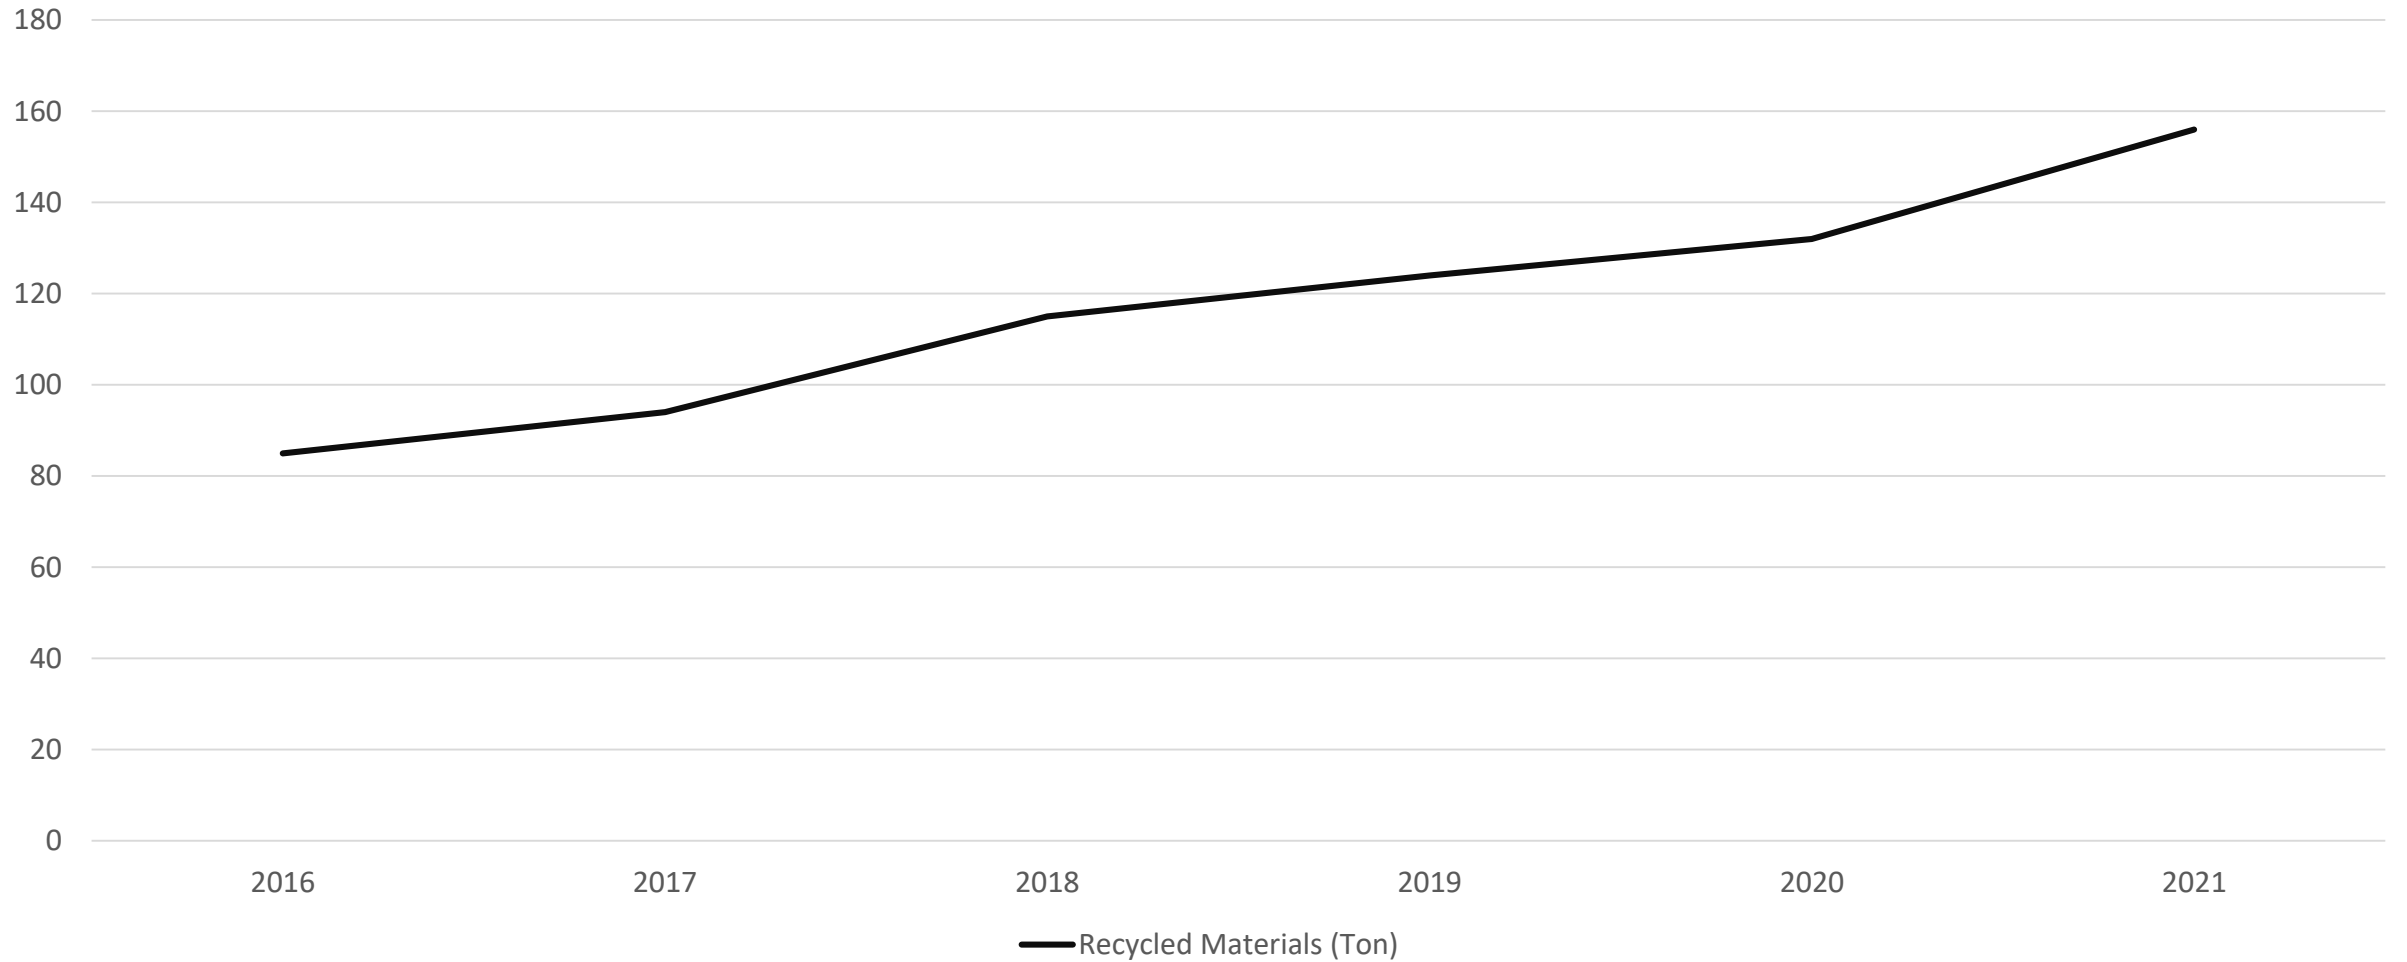

RECYCLED MOSAIC

Places where we collect the glass waste are located mostly on the Prishtina Region and Mitrovica Region.
